Summary of the Web-Conference:

A web-Conference on “Revisiting Language and Literature after Covid-19” was conducted at Adarsh Mahavidyalaya, Omerga, Dist. Osmanabad, MS on 01/02/2022 at 03:00 pm. The web-conference was organized by Internal Quality Assurance Cell & Department of English, Adarsh Mahavidyalaya, Omerga, Dist. Osmanabad, MS.

The web-Conference was delivered through the Zoom Meeting Application and more than 800 participants from Indian and abroad participated in the web-conference through online mode. Hon. Principal of the college has welcomed and delivered his introductory address. He said, the entire Globe has been suffering from this pandemic stroke of Covid 19 and every country has been trying its best to overcome the same and face this biological threat positively and bravely. In the same fashion, our country, India has been doing the same in positive manner. It is quite obvious and known to almost everyone that this Covid-19 has created quite pathetic and disastrous plight for all of us and it has disturbed almost every structure of the society, state and nation as well. We cannot expect a single arena which has not been affected by Covid-19. If the scenario is like this then how can we expect that Language and Literature will be free from this and there will not be any vibrations in these streams of Language and Literature? Furthermore he said, the streams of language and literature have also been influenced by Covid 19 and definitely there will be certain changes in the structures of Language, Literature. It is an honour and privilege that this English Language and Literature has great heritage but the coming shades of language and literature are going to be different. Besides, he pointed out that the literature is nothing but the mirror of society and almost every part of the society is depicted in literature with different languages. The stream of literature is pious and unique and with the help of language it gets flourished. As there are the genres of literature like Novel, Drama, Poetry, Short Stories, etc. which have been dealing with imaginary and realistic pictures of the society so far; are going to be come with different shades of society and its scenario in coming days of our lives. The head department of English Dr. T. M. Pawar has introduced the motto and objectives of the said Web-conference and welcomed all the dignitaries and participants participated in the Web-Conference.

After his welcome talk, Hon. Prof. A. G. Khan Sir delivered his keynote address and it was truly thundering and alarming talk given by sir. He has covered almost every genre of literature and analysed it minutely by focusing how it has been influenced by the social changes. He has also pointed out some crucial threads of language and its different branches and expecting changes in the same. He has expressed his positive wish about the recovery of the society and entire globe from this unexpected blow of Covid-19. After his Keynote address, our resource person Dr. Parin Somani Mam from London, United Kingdom unveiled many thread of language and literature as far as their expecting scenario after covid-19 is concerned. She has rightly explored the different genres of literature and different branches of language as well. After this, respected Prof. R. B. Chougule delivered his talk and touched different thresholds of language and literature and commented over the same as far as scenario after the Covid 19 pandemic is concerned. In valedictory, Prof. Mustajeeb Khan Sir explored some unexplored issues as far as language and literature are concerned. He has taken all of us in the past and gave us the examples of the World Wars and many such incidents which affected greatly on the globe and its different structures. The web-conference has ended up at around 06:15 pm with the vote of thanks expressed by Dr. Sidhir Mathpati. The anchoring has been done by Dr. Prashant Mothe.
